Old & New

As the rope horse industry continues to develop at lightspeed, the timeless classics like Shining Spark still hold strong as the foundation of the breeding business. Shining Spark has sired over $500,000 in progeny earnings, plus another $993,534 as a paternal grandsire in the roping disciplines alone.

His legacy continues through Carol Rose Quarter Horses, two years after his death at 33. Shining Spark's 2024 breeding fee, for ICSI-only contracts, is $5,000, and his legacy is detailed on page 67.

The legend Shining Spark, sired by AQHA Superhorse Genuine Doc and out of AQHA Hall of Fame and 1979 AQHA Superhorse Diamonds Sparkle, was owned by AQHA Hall of Fame horsewoman Carol Rose.

Shining Spark was highly successful in the arena. QData reports his earnings to be $62,674 with 17 AQHA performance points in reining and an AQHA Open Performance Register of Merit (ROM). In 1993, Shining Spark ridden by Tim McQuay won the AQHA Junior Reining World Championship with a 227.5. In 1994, the duo won NRHA Open Derby Championship. Shining Spark was crowned the youngest NRHA $1 Million Sire in 2002. In 2011, he was inducted into the NRHA Hall of Fame. He then crossed the threshold of becoming an NRHA $4 Million Sire in 2013.

“My true passion has always been in team roping,” Rose said. “Shining Spark was an amazing head horse and a fabulous steer stopping horse. He was so fast out of the box and stopped so quickly. The public was never able to witness his roping abilities. Bobby Lewis was training him for the World’s Greatest Horseman when he had an unrelated illness that ended his riding career.”

In 2000, Shining Spark gained much attention in the team roping world when Miss N Shine was crowned the AQHA Junior Heading Champion. At the 2005 AQHA World Show, four Shining Spark progeny were crowned AQHA World Champions in their respective arenas: Amateur Heading Champion Bald N Shiney, Junior Heeling Champion Shyna Spark, Junior Working Cow Horse Champion Shiners Smart Chex and Amateur Working Cow Horse Champion Shine Smartly.

In 2018, grandson Sparks Peppy Doc (“Smurf”) was a PRCA Heel Horse of the Year nominee. In 2019, granddaughter DT Sugar Chex Whiz won PRCA/AQHA Horse of the Year. “Sugar” is the dam of many phenomenon rope horses, including The Notorious B I G and The Darkk Side. Shining Spark’s grandson, Chics Magic Corona, was crowned the 2022 ARHFA Heading World Champion.

According to QData, Shining Spark has sired 1,397 foals with earnings exceeding $10.4 million and 38,042 AQHA points, with 26 AQHA World Champions and 21 AQHA Reserve World Champions.

Shining Spark has also sired many other notable champions, including NRHA Open Futurity Champion Shining N Sassy; AQHA 2003 Superhorse Shine By The Bay with AQHA achievements including AQHA Performance Champion, Superior Tie-Down Roping, Superior Reining, Superior Heeling, Superior Heading, Open Performance ROM; and A Shiner Named Sioux, the 2010 AQHA World Junior Reining Champion and 2011 AQHA World Junior Working Cow Horse Champion.

Shining Spark is the Equi-Stat All Time Leading Maternal Grandsire of Reined Cow Horses, with broodmares producing horses with earnings totaling more than $27 million in different competitive arenas, reinforcing his broodmare sire credentialing. The Top 10 Reined Cow Horse lists include own daughters of Shining Spark, Shining Tari, Lil Miss Shiney Chex, Sparking Train, Sheza Shinette and Shiners Diamond Girl, as well as granddaughter Soula Jule Forever. Their earnings alone total more than $3.4 million.

Shining Spark has been a highly proven sire in the Western performance horse world. His offspring carry his superior athletic ability, trainability, cow sense and speed, making them highly desirable not only to the Western performance horse world, but to the team roping industry.

The Influence of 10M Sire SHINING SPARK continues to dominate in ALL Performance Horse Arenas.

Feel The Sting, a byproduct of the No.1 leading barrel racing sire Dash Ta Fame and dam nine-time NFR qualifier MP Meter My Hay (Stingray), has won $138,000 in lifetime earnings and is an NFR qualifier himself. Brought into the limelight by Ryann Pedone, “Stinger” was set to storm the NFR when fate intervened—a fractured hock precluded his run in Vegas. Despite his setback, the stallion made a comeback to end up in the hands of his dam’s jockey, Sherry Cervi.

Raised by Highpoint Performance Horses, Feel The Sting was acquired by 70 Ranch Performance Horses during his comeback season. Under Sherry’s guidance, he excelled until an unfortunate knee injury led to his retirement. His progeny, however, speaks volumes of his ability as a competitor and sire—HP Feel The Fame, his first foal, clinched the 2021 Barrel Futurities of America Juvenile World Championship and now has lifetime earnings near $300,000.

Being a quick and agile competitor, Stinger passes those traits down to his offspring. Standing 15 hands tall, stout, and conformationally correct, Stinger has all the attributes of a standout team roping sire, with his offspring being able to be successful in barrel racing or as a head or heel horse.

KR Fantallicka, also known as Cadillac, is a 2013 AQHA/APHA 5-panel N/N red roan son of the legendary Metallic Cat out of a daughter of Zack T Wood. Coming from a family of winners, Cadillac has an impressive resume of his own, Cadillac has 197 AQHA points in the heading, heeling, tie-down, and cow horse events, as well as superiors in heading and heeling. Cadillac is also an NRCHA money earner, PRCA money earner, barrel racing money earner, has multiple all-around titles and was a 2019 Superhorse contender.

As a team roping sire, Cadillac offers more than his outstanding genetics. His ability to excel in multiple disciplines demonstrates his adaptability, intelligence and athleticism. Being a well-rounded competitor, Cadillac passes his incredible versatility to his offspring. With his oldest foal crop born in 2020, they are already showing promise in both roping and cow horse at just two years of age.

“His babies are just as pretty as they are talented,” Don Ham, stallion manager, said. “If you need a horse that is just the right combination between fast and agile, Cadillac offers just that.”

Metallic Malice is the exceptional 2015 son of Metallic Cat. Starting in the cutting arena, Metallic Malice boasts winnings there and transitioned into the cow horse under Brad Lund. A money earner in the cow horse and an AQHA World Show qualifier, the stallion flaunts substantial ability as a rope horse sire.

“Malice” stands 15 hands and wears a size 1 shoe, breaking the mold of typical cutters and boasting a stature that appeals broadly to cow horse and rope horse breeders alike. While Malice has the build and athleticism that breeders look for, the stallion also carries the homozygous roan gene—meaning he will throw a roan foal every time.

His oldest progeny, now 4-year-olds, have already made waves at the Royal Crown roping events. With the promise shown by his 3-year-olds, Malice’s influence is set to extend across various events. As versatile as they come, his offspring exhibit high-level potential for professionals while retaining the gentle disposition for amateur riders.

“I think once enough people ride his babies, they will be able to compete at all levels,” Don Ham, stallion manager, said. “Malice has such a good mind, is really quiet, and just a good horse to be around, and he passes that down to his offspring.”

A product of Firewaterontherocks and NFR mare Mulberry Canyon Moon, SR Industry Titan is a part of barrel racing royalty. Living up to—and exceeding—the expectations that come from being genetically gifted, “Titan” has proven himself time and time again. Trained and campaigned by Troy Crumrine, Titan placed in multiple go-rounds in the barrel racing at the 2020 NFR, and has repeatedly set ProRodeo arena records with Brittany Pozzi-Tonozzi.

Titan’s oldest foals, now 3-year-olds, are showing great promise. From barrel racing to team roping, his offspring are equipped with the genetics to excel. Titan stands 15 hands tall, has impeccable conformation, and carries all the traits that make a standout rope horse. Crossing well on various mares, Titan is the perfect fit for adding speed without adding too much height.

Acquired by 70 Ranch Performance Horses in September 2023, the purchase was driven by Titan’s exceptional pedigree and performance.

“I had been watching Titan on the Cowboy Channel and was curious about him,” said Don Ham, stallion manager for 70 Ranch. “He’s a fabulous horse to watch and, as I was researching him, every rock I would turn over, Titan would just keep checking all the boxes for everything that makes a great stud.”

A son of Confederate Leader out of a ProRodeo money earning mare, BR Golden Leader is a 2013 gray stallion that has been successful in the barrel racing pen with top trainers Kassie Mowry, Angie Meadors and Dustin Angelle, amassing more than $58,000 in earnings. Still running barrels with owner and breeder Whitney Davison, BR Golden Leader is also used in the roping arena by Whitney’s husband, Cole Davison, as well as two-time ARHFA World Champion Tate Kirchenschlager. A true all-around stallion, BR Golden Leader passes his versatility and easy-going attitude to his offspring.

“If BR Golden Leader wasn’t so easy and great to be around, I probably wouldn’t want to do the breeding stuff—it’s just so hard,” Whitney laughed. “But he makes doing it easy, and the babies he produces makes it worthwhile.”

Fast and elevated, BR Golden Leader is an excellent cross on mares in the roping arena that aren’t as quick. Being an outcross in barrel racing, BR Golden Leader is a suitable match for Dash Ta Fame or Frenchmans Guy bloodlines. With his oldest foal crop coming 5, he’s had four earners gather up over $21,000 in extremely limited hauling in 2023. His offspring are placed with standout trainers for both barrel racing and roping, maximizing the promotion of your investment in BR Golden Leader.

Dual Axle, a son of Dual R Smokin and out of CDS Modern Millie, has an impressive record with wins as the 2019 American Rope Horse Futurities Association Heeling Champion, 2019 AQHA Heeling World Champion, 2020 Houston Livestock Hi-Point Champion, 2021 Houston Livestock Show Heading Champion and winner of the 2021 Art of the Cowgirl steer stopping with Samantha Robbins.

At just under 14.1 hands, his athletic build makes him an exceptional competitor, proven on both ends of the steer as a head horse and heel horse. Dual Axle’s size, athleticism and stout build make him a versatile sire that will allow his offspring to be successful in the cutting and cow horse arenas, as well as in the roping pen.

The rabicano stallion passes down not only his physical attributes but also his calm and intelligent mind. Dual Axle’s first foal crop hit the ground in 2022 and, as just yearlings, are proving to be quick on the uptake—and should be successful at jackpots, ProRodeos and working on the ranch.

“They are the smartest group of colts I’ve ever worked with, and I’ve worked with quite a few different studs,” said Sarah Skeeters, Bledsoe Ranch Manager. “You show them something once, and it just clicks.”

In team roping and barrel racing arenas both, one stallion is making a name for himself: Born Ta Be Famous. A 2006 palomino stallion, “Famous” is sired by all-time leading barrel racing sire Dash Ta Fame and out of matriarch SX Frenchmans Vanila, the first—and only—triple crown winner in barrel racing with earnings in excess of $225,000 and progeny earnings of more than $240,000. Famous offers proven bloodlines that are successful when crossed on daughters of Image of Greatness, Judge Cash, Ivory James, Lanes Leinster, Smart Little Lena and High Brow Cat—these offspring stand out in both barrel racing and team roping.

At nearly 15.2 hands, Famous combines size and speed. Famous has already crossed the $1 million mark in progeny earnings, a testament to his ability as a sire. “Famous’ offspring inherit his size, [which is] especially beneficial for smaller cow horses, and they possess a trainable, good-minded nature, ideal for the demands of both barrel racing and team roping,” Eric Ward said. “He produces offspring that are versatile and capable of going to any event.”

Blazin Honor, owned by Busby Quarter Horses, is a proven competitor with more than $90,000 in team roping earnings and a WPRA barrel racing money earner. The 2008 stallion has 57 AQHA Points—17 in heading, 39 in heeling and one in performance halter—as well as an AQHA Performance Register of Merit.

A product of elite lineage, Blazin Honor is a son of Blazin Jetolena, a $7.8 million sire, and a maternal grandson of Power Train, a $2.5 million track and barrel sire. Blazin Honor has the pedigree to win and the performance record to back it up.

Proving to pave his own way in the breeding industry, Blazin Honor is siring offspring that are just as versatile as he is. His offspring are making a mark in the roping arena, demonstrating his ability to pass on his characteristic talents.

Crossing well on mares with Stylish Rey, Highbrow Cat and Peptoboonsmal bloodlines, Blazin Honor produces horses that can rope on the head and heel side. Though siring many outstanding team roping horses, his progeny are also competing successfully in breakaway roping and barrel racing.

Blazing Honor produces versatile horses that can do it all, showing exceptional trainability and adaptability.

“The stallion game is tough; it’s a long process, to say the least,” Andrea said. “I’d watched A Blazin Dude, and I just thought, ‘Man, what better horse to add to our program?’ He’s had success, and we’ve had so much success with his full sister.”

The perfect cross of brains and speed, This Fame Is On Fire boasts two legendary parents both in the arena and the breeding shed.

His sire, Fire Water Flit, has progeny earnings over $5 million while his dam, the Dash Ta Fame/Bully Bullion-bred Famous Silk Panties, won better than $240,000 in her career, setting a then-record for barrel futurity earnings by a mare, and has continued her legacy through her offspring.

With a limited number of foals competing, This Fame Is On Fire, aka “Drip,” has already garnered more than $113,000 in progeny earnings himself and was purchased by DeLancey Enterprises in 2023.

Drip’s versatility is shown in his work around the ranch in Wyoming, college rodeo competition, and 1D barrel racing earnings—and he’ll soon add roping to his repertoire. He has an exceptionally quiet and willing disposition and his foals are big boned, quick-footed and conformationally correct with straight legs.

Drip weighs in around 1,200 pounds and stands 15.1 hands. He is AQHA/APHA eligible for breeding, color-tested, seven-panel n/n, EVA negative and vaccinated.

This Fame Is On Fire is ready to pass on his outstanding pedigree and top-notch gentle disposition to the next generation. Put some FIRE and speed in your breeding program!

Stylin With Pepto, a legacy of $28-million sire Peptoboosmal and out of Docs Stylenaette, is making his mark in the roping pen. His limited yet esteemed offspring have seamlessly transitioned into ProRodeo and Open rodeo homes after competing at the futurities.

This year will be Stylin With Pepto’s first large foal crop. This anticipated 2024 offering holds the potential for greatness, a characteristic that Stylin With Pepto’s foals have already begun to demonstrate. Whether for a beginner rider or a professional, these horses are proving to be a dream to train and compete on.

“We’re very hopeful, and we’ve believed in the potential of the horse for a long time,” Eric Brown said. “But the fact that we never bought him with the idea of breeding a ton of mares to him—we bought him as a private horse—then with the onset of the Riata Buckle, we just had the opportunity to breed more mares. Then, on top of it, the few that have been bred have just been fantastic.”

With fewer than 75 registered foals to date, the opportunity to breed with Stylin With Pepto remains an exclusive prospect for those wanting to produce capable and level-headed horses that excel in any arena.

HP Dash Ta Fiesta is barrel racing royalty, by leading sire Dash Ta Fame out of Kelly Yates’ famous Firewater Fiesta.

“I love the way that horse is built,” Lovell said. “He caught my eye immediately. I wasn’t sold on the run-cow cross, honestly, for rope horses, but I believe that stallions like HP Dash Ta Fiesta are going to change my mind.”

Lovell crossed three of his own mares on HP Dash Ta Fiesta, while Torres crossed one on him, too.

“I want horses eligible for the incentives and, if you look at HP Dash Ta Fiesta, he could just as easily have been a heel horse or a cow horse,” Torres said.

Slick By Design needs no introduction in the barrel racing arena as the top-earning stallion of all time, with lifetime earnings of more than $643,000 and offspring passing the $6.4 million mark in earnings.

But in the last three years, “Slick” has made a major splash in the roping pen, with multiple offspring winning big across the sport’s major aged events, with wins and placings at the ARHFA events, Royal Crown ropings and Riata Buckle.

Probably By Design—a 2017 stallion under the guidance of J.D. Yates—won the 2021 AQHA World Championship in the Non-Pro Senior Heading with owner Phil Tearney, while the horse won the Reserve World Title in the Junior Heading with Yates in 2022 and the year-end highpoint in the heading, too.

“They’re really gentle, quiet and easy,” Yates said. “For a big horse, Probably By Design can really use his butt. You very seldom find horses at that age that like to do what they do.”

Slick’s offspring—in their very short time in the rope horse business—have already amassed over $100,000 in earnings and are eligible for $20 million in incentives across the Western performance industry.

Winners Version first made a name for himself with $399,057 in his offspring’s racetrack earnings, but he’s quickly excelled as a rope horse and barrel horse sire, and he stands at the official breeding farm of the Ariat World Series of Team Roping.

He is a full brother to Jubilant Version, the brown gelding that Trevor Brazile rode in his last year of ProRodeo in 2018, going on to carry Clint Summers to his first NFR on the head side in 2021.

The 2006 brown stallion also sired Hankies Version, the sorrel gelding Rhen Richard won over $50,000 on in his 5-year-old year at the rope horse futurities—including winning titles at Scottsdale’s ARHFA Sun Circuit and Rock Springs, Wyoming’s Royal Crown.

“They have that explosive speed,” Richard said. “On the track, it really shows when they come out of the gate. But in the team roping, it helps them come out of the box and run to the cow, hard. But they’re controllable.”

Kaden Richard won big on Winners Version daughter Shes Mischevious, placing sixth at the ARHFA World Championship and winning the Zesterra Open at the Royal Crown in Oklahoma City in May on the mare.

With a speed index of 103, Winners Version is one of the fastest incentive-eligible stallions available in the rope horse market.

Mike and Sheila Ingram’s Spur Cross Ranch is the home of Ingram Quarter Horses. Located in beautiful Gallatin Gateway, just outside of Bozeman, Montana, they have been breeding, raising and training quality American Quarter Horses for more than 30 years.

Ingram Quarter Horses is dedicated to producing top quality horses with proven bloodlines. The star of the Ingram breeding program is Peptoes, their red roan stallion by the legendary Peptoboonsmal, out of a producing daughter of the great Doc O’Lena. Ingrams’ broodmares are individually selected based not only on their bloodlines, but their confirmation, disposition, color and overall looks.

All foals are mare-raised under the clear blue Montana sky and abundant green-grass pastures, and are nurtured and socialized by ranch managers Tyson and Wendy Wood. The resulting offspring have been performers in a variety of areas including the show arena, team roping, reining, cutting and barrel racing, and as solid working ranch horses.

Peptoes is a good-boned, thick son of the $26 million producer Peptoboonsmal and out of a producing daughter of Doc O’Lena. He has NCHA lifetime earnings of $11,583.68 and was a NCHA Super Stakes Semi-Finalist, as well as a Multiple Aged Event Finalist.

Peptoes sires colts that are good boned, thick and athletic. Peptoes inherited his very strong red roan genes from his handsome sire, and a great many of his colts could be considered his spitting image! Three different times Peptoes colts have topped the Colorado State University Legends of Ranching Sale in Fort Collins, Colorado. His colts are proven to be winners. Ingram Quarter Horses offers Frozen Semen.

In the performance horse world, athleticism and intelligence are critical to success, but a little bit of pretty doesn’t hurt either.

All those attributes are found in Hockenson Quarter Horses’ CT Show Me Your Guns, the 2021 AQHA World Champion Senior Heading Horse and AHQA Champion.

“Joe” was a standout in the show pen: a Super Horse contender for multiple years after qualifying for the AQHA World Show in tie down roping, heading, heeling, ranch riding, barrels and performance halter.

With his oldest, limited first foal crop just being 5 years old, Joe quickly proved himself as a sire, turning out 2022 AQHA World Champion HQ Show Me The Gin in the L2 Junior Heading (one of two in his first crop), and 2023 Reserve World Champion in the L3 Junior Heading, HQ Top Gun.

Joe’s offspring have earned more than 244 AQHA points and $60,000 and climbing. Joe is also the all-time high-money producing Stallion in the IQHA Ranch Horse Futurity, just one of the many incentives for which his progeny are eligible.

In addition to his athleticism, the uniquely colored stallion carries the cream gene, gray gene and dun gene. His offspring are proving to have his dominance in the show pen and their beauty can’t be overlooked.

Reid and Melanie Hockenson had a vision of raising a winner when they crossed NCHA Hall of Fame sire Metallic Cat on their own AQHA performance champion and third-place AQHA Senior Heading mare, Bound To White Chex.

Both sire and dam were also proven producers: Metallic Cat with progeny earnings topping $63 million and Bound To White Chex with progeny earnings of $54,000, 200 AQHA points, as well as a producer of multiple AHQA World Champion and Reserve World Champions.

“He was absolutely everything we hoped for,” Reid Hockenson noted.

HQ Helluva Cat qualified to the open finals of the 2019 NRCHA Snaffle Bit Futurity before being started in the heeling. Before an injury shortened his show career, HQ Helluva Cat also added the All Around Ranch Horse Versatility Championship to his resume.

HQ Helluva Cat carries both the cream and roan genes. His first foal crop just hit the ground in 2022 and are just being started under saddle and are bound to be outstanding athletes with a ton of look, just like their sire.

Reys Of Pep is the winningest stallion in the history of the rope horse futurity business, having won under the likes of world champions Colby Lovell, Kaleb Driggers and Kollin VonAhn, amassing $114,599 in earnings in two years of competition.

Reys Of Pep, first started and shown by Brad Lund at the NRCHA Snaffle Bit Futurity, carried Lovell to the American Rope Horse Futurity Association’s Reserve Heeling World Title in 2022, marking the highest score of the entire show, qualifying for the short round in the heading, too.

The horse won the 2023 RFA Heeling Derby with Lovell, the 2023 ARHFA Cowtown Classic Heading Futurity with Lovell and the TX Best Heading Futurity with Driggers, too.

“He can do anything—he’s outstanding on each end—truly one of the best I’ve ever rode,” Lovell said. “He’s good-minded enough to take the heat of battle any time you ask. My little girl can warm him up, and I don’t give it a second thought.”

For his exceptional 2023 campaign, Reys Of Pep won the ARHFA Head Horse of the Year title, awarded at the World Championship in Fort Worth in October.

Owned by NFR header Jake Cooper, Reys Of Pep will stand at 113 Equine for 2024, where he’ll come and go in between a full jackpot and rodeo schedule.

CFR Arete Gun—a son of $9 million sire Gonnatrashya and out of a daughter of Tribeca Tucker—has proven his mettle as a rope horse. With success at the AQHA World Show in the tie-down and heeling with Cody McCartney, Jared Crain, and Steve Orth, as well as wins at the Royal Crown and Red Bud Classic with Dakota Kirkenschlager, the 2016 stallion has surpassed $60,000 in lifetime earnings so far.

With his first foal crop hitting the ground in 2024, “Arete” is still competing and having success with riders of all levels—a trait that owners Jared Crain, Buddy Wacaser and Jack Bogart all hope is passed down to his progeny. Coming from a reining background, the stallion has proven to be versatile and steady, yet user-friendly.

“I got to take him home this summer and, once he got done breeding, I took him to jackpots myself as an amateur all summer and just had a blast and won quite a bit of money,” Crain said. “Then he gets back in the hands of Cody and Dakota and is competitive as ever at the World Show. Arete is such a solid horse—good-minded but also has the athleticism to do the job in each discipline. With Arete, you’ve got it all.”

REF Majestico, also known as “Magic,” is a 2013 red dun stallion by Colonels Smoking Gun out of Jameen Olena, a daughter of Hollywood Dun It. Magic stands 14.2 hands tall with a stout build and large bone structure. This stature allows Magic to excel as a head and heel horse. Magic has won money on some of the biggest stages, like the World Series of Team Roping and the Riata Buckle.

Magic’s first foal crop was born in 2019, and they are heading roping arena. Proving to be like their sire, Magic’s offspring carry a lot of trainability and are excelling on both ends of the steer.

With a focus on breeding for specific qualities like speed, a big stop and intelligence, Magic is not only a winner in the arena but a sire that promises to enhance the quality and performance of future generations in the roping arena.

“I’m excited with the Riata buckle promoting the breeding of rope horses,” Jose said. “We’re breeding for the roping industry now and not for another discipline waiting for the dropouts to turn into rope horses. And I think Magic brings a lot to the table being a rope horse sire.”

Kaleb Driggers has owned more elite-level performers than any header ever. So, it goes to reason that if he decides to stand a stallion, that stallion aligns with his exceptionally high standards for a great horse.

That stallion—Metallic Payday— came from fellow World Champion and ARHFA Reserve Champ Colby Lovell's program. Lovell, with his background in cutting, ranching and cow horse, put a foundation on Metallic Payday that’s earned him more than $60,000 in competition.

“He has colts that prove to be really willing and versatile,” Driggers said. “His oldest colts are 2-year-olds and in some of the best hands in the business. Kollin Vonahn has one that Chance Harman broke for me, and he said he is one of the best colts that he has had. Colby has a few that he has taken in different directions and says they are very willing to learn. All of them have big bones and good feet.”

Competing since his 3-year-old year, the 2017 stallion has placed in the average and go-rounds on both ends at the Riata Buckle, Royal Crown and ARHFA events under everyone from Lovell to Driggers to Andy Holcomb, Junior Nogueira and Dakota Kirchenschlager. In 2023, he finished his futurity campaign the ARHFA’s Reserve World Champion on the heel side with Kirchenschlager.

“I will continue to show him in the AQHA as a senior horse,” Driggers said. “But he is ready to move up. I am not going to rush him, but Junior has been practicing for the NFR on him. Dakota is going to start using him some at the jackpots, and he went to the World Series of Team Roping Finale in December and is working him into the rodeos.”

Beyond his accomplishments, Gus has proven his worth as a sire, with his offspring carrying forward his winning traits.

Producing winners like HR Barney Ray, HR Oscar Rey, CG McClintock, and Smart Reys Ellie May, Gus proves to sire winners that can be successful in both heading and heeling. Gus’ 3-year-old progeny, Smart Josie Rey and Smart Scottish Guy, are already making waves in the roping pen and have been at the top of their game all year—all while handling the pressure with the distinctive calm they inherit from their sire.

“We’ve crossed Gus on several different bloodlines, and every single one of the foals is good-minded with plenty of size and bone to do their job,” Kathy Harrison said. “The offspring all have that ‘chill factor’ and are always quiet, calm and ready to take on what’s next—whether that’s the bright lights in the arena or a new job.”

Gus exemplifies ‘old school cool’ with his vintage bloodlines, blending a gritty toughness with a quiet mind, setting a standard for both poise and resilience.

Catty Hawk’s foal crops have each produced champions. His strong foundation results in exceptional performers and with progeny earnings over $3.3 million in cutting, reined cow horse, roping, ranch work and barrel racing.

“Catty Hawk is an impressive competitor in the show pen,” Michelle Cowan said. “We are seeing the incredible payouts in team roping. Makenzie Cowan, our daughter, along with others have had some great performances in the roping arena, so we felt the next logical step was to enroll him in the Riata Buckle and the Royal Crown, giving the owners of his offspring additional opportunities to do well!”

Bowmans Metallic Cat (Metallic Cat x Bowmans Fancy) was trained and shown by Luke Jones Performance Horses of Allerton, Iowa. The red roan stallion is the 2019 Midwest Greatest Horseman Champion and has 325 AQHA points in heading, heeling, tie-down, working cow horse, ranch and trail, performance halter and LTE of $36,621.

“For the last two years, we’ve been standing Bowmans Metallic Cat,” says Luke. “We legged him back up so our 12-year-old son, Lane, could head on him in the #10.5 Jr Roping at the 2023 Riata Buckle. He made it to the short round. Our 15-year-old son, Cort, heeled on him at the 2023 AQHA World Show for Lane, who ended up winning 3rd in the L2 Senior Heading on his horse.”

Bowmans Metallic Cat is versatile, known for his athleticism, kind nature, and incredible mind, which he passes to his babies, with winners in both cow horse and roping arenas.

This year, Bowmans Metallic Cat offspring won the most money at the SDRCHA Stallions Stakes Futurity and Derby. His notable progenies include BMC Metallic Gem, the 2021 Badlands Bits and Spurs Futurity 4-year-old Open Heeling Champion, an NRCHA money earner, and an AQHA World Show Qualifier and AQHA World Show Jr Heeling finalist. BMC Wild Girl, a 2023 Open Snaffle Bit Futurity Finalist, SDRCHA Open and Breeders Open Futurity Champion, and a Southwest Reined Cow Horse Association Open Futurity Finalist, and Billions N Billions is the SDRCHA Non-Pro Breeders Futurity Champion.

Originating from Haythorn Land & Cattle Co., this 2009 AQHA stallion, Four Chex Bay, known as “Doobie,” stands at 15.1 hands and weighs a solid 1,250 pounds. With his impressive stature, Doobie is not just a sight to behold but also a sire of winners. A full brother to Four Bonnie Bay—a winner in numerous AQHA events, including heading, healing, and calf roping—he brings a legacy of excellence to the breeding world.

Doobie’s foals, the oldest born in 2016, are already making a mark in roping arenas across Texas and Arizona, inheriting his desirable traits: big bone, striking color, luxurious mane and tail, and significant speed. While Doobie himself excels as a head horse, he produces versatile progeny suitable for both heading and heeling, with several being capable switchenders.

“He passes everything down—from his looks to his talent,” Danny Massingill said. “Doobie is as quiet and calm as they come, and all of his babies are that way. They are real easy to start and super easygoing, reflecting his calm disposition and athletic ability, making them suitable for a range of riders, from beginners to advanced ropers.”

Two-time World Champion Heeler Patrick Smith purchased WSR Hesa Dunofa Lena in 2019, offering the standout stallion to the public in addition to the horse’s full schedule on the ProRodeo road.

“The way this horse is bred is a bonus,” Smith said of the 2004 stud known as “Rooster.” “The reason I bought him is the way he is to heel on. I knew I needed a great one, and I want people to see that.”

In 2019, Smith, heeling for Aaron Tsinigine, won $35,000 for fourth aboard Rooster at the Bob Feist Invitational, helping boost the horse’s lifetime earnings well over $300,000.

Raised and trained by World Champion Randon Adams, Rooster appeared at the National Finals Rodeo with Cesar de la Cruz, and has been ridden by the likes of Russell Cardoza and Dakota Kirchenschlager, too.

“He’s so honest,” de la Cruz said. “He gives you a good throw and a great chance, no matter the situation. His ability to slide and get on his hind end really sets him apart—he’ll leave 11s at a trot.”

Adams said Rooster’s offspring are the best he’s ridden, and Rooster’s paternal sibling WSR Hesa Alive carried Kaleb Driggers to the $100,000 American Rodeo win in 2023 and helped secure Clint Summers’ NFR berth at Sioux Falls, South Dakota’s Cinch Governor’s Cup in September 2023.

“We had a 100% success rate on getting the mares we bred in foal,” Smith added. “Ropers are embracing the program, and we’re really excited about that.”

Utah’s Richard family has developed a special eye for the best horses in the business to cross on their standout line of mares, and they began offering their stud Reys Smokin Dually to the public in 2023.

The Richards bought him in Fort Worth at the National Cutting Horse Association’s sale as a yearling, standing out from the pack as the right kind of young stud to cross on the family’s race-bred mares.

“He was bigger than most of them, and he just looked like a rope horse in that sale ring,” Richard said. “He was really, really calm even then, and he had that eye appeal, too. And when we started him, he never got hot. You could put anybody on him, even early on.”

Before rope horse futurities really came of age in the U.S., Richard took the stud to Canada and won at the futurities there.

“He did really well,” Richard said. “But by the time the futurities became a big deal down here, he had aged out.”

So Reys Smokin Dually went to the A&C Racing and Roping breeding barn, crossing on the family’s running-bred mares, adding more trainability, bone and rate to the guaranteed run the family already counted on.

“He’s not a fast-minded horse,” Richard explained. “We can breed him to a hot-bred mare, and we can push the colts along as 4-year-olds without worrying about it. We can really get into them and ask them for 100%. That’s good for me and the way I like to rope, not having to slow one down. His colts just have natural rate.”

Never was that more evident than in Fort Worth in October, when Richard claimed the ARHFA’s 4-year-old Heading World Championship on Reys Smokin Dually’s own 4-year-old, Reys Sunset.

“He feels like a real deal horse,” Richard said of the up-and-comer. “He’s a freak athlete. He really runs. Going after that short-round steer was by far the most I’ve ever asked out of him. He felt nervous, so I thought he was going to leave on that last one but, when the gates banged, he just stood there, so I had to make up ground.”

But that horse isn’t even the stud’s most successful offspring to date. Rubys Rollin, the brown 6-year-old mare Richard won California Rodeo Salinas on in 2022—came straight off the futurity trail to win in one of the toughest setups in rodeo’s summer run, and she’s already banked over $50,000 in earnings.

Hillbilly Hal lows may well be a passion project for founder Robin Walker, but it was born from the straight up necessity for a rodeoing mom to have versatile horses capable of competing successfully in multiple events.

Today, in her pursuit of breeding the ultimate crossover horse, Walker blends her proven band of broodmares, such as Fols Dream Of Cash, who’s produced Canadian Finals Rodeo barrel horses and an AQHA world champion, with the outstanding performance and genetics of sire Big Shine In Cowtown, aka “Champ.”

Champ is a futurity and ProRodeo winner who competed at the Canadian Finals Rodeo as a 5-year old and has continued his successful show career with Jeremy Buhler.

“I added Trey Gallais, multiple CFR competitor, for full-time training and getting our colts the best start we can,” Walker added of the new addition to her budding program. With 20 new foals hitting the ground each year, Walker has progeny by Champ, as well as other outstanding stallions from hand selected, proven mares.

Champ balances breeding and showing and, new for 2024, is now a Royal Crown stallion for both of Walker’s favorite disciplines: team roping and barrel racing.

“That’s exciting, especially with my mares,” Walker said. “I’m sitting here giggling.”

One Fine Vintage, the AQHA and NRCHA World Champion known as “Vinnie,” is the cornerstone of Robertson Ranch’s breeding program.

Sired by $22 million producer One Time Pepto and out of Shiners Siena by Shining Spark, One Fine Vintage’s pedigree is stacked with impressive bloodlines that cross well on a number of mares.

“I think One Fine Vintages make a pretty picture,” ARHFA World Champion Andy Holcomb said. “Even when they aren’t perfect, they manage to catch your eye. They also learn fast and pattern well to the roping, so they fit my program well.”

Well enough that Holcomb won the 2022 ARHFA 4-Year-Old Heading World Championship on One Vintage Merada, by One Fine Vintage. In 2023, Holcomb and One Vintage Merada also won the futurity sidepot heading for Miles Baker at the Riata Buckle, banking another $51,750 in earnings.

Standing at 15.1 hands, Vinnie’s versatility and athleticism are unmatched. He not only holds two World Championship Working Cow Horse titles but also has an AQHA Open Superior in Working Cow Horse, Heading and Heeling with lifetime earnings of $135,187 and offspring earnings in excess of $337,000. His average money earner has won $18,755, according to QData, with five having won AQHA points early into his breeding career.

While originally a reined cow horse stallion, the majority of his offspring have won in the team roping—some $247,378 before the 2023 Riata Buckle earnings are even added in.

“That horse just gives you confidence,” said $2-million-rider Corey Cushing after winning the 2016 AQHA Senior Working Cow Horse World Championship on Vinnie. “I’ve watched him for a long, long time, and I’ve never seen him be outdone. There’s nothing that horse can’t do great. He’s a natural athlete.”

His offspring are not only excelling in cow horse events but have recently made waves in the roping arena, with Fine Vintage Cash becoming the No. 1 Highest Money Earning Rope Horse Futurity Mare in the Fall of 2023 with $112,361 in earnings.

In addition to riding several of his offspring, Daniel and Jazlyn Rice of Clements, California, have fit Robertson Ranches’ One Fine Vintage yearlings for sale over the past several years.

“We’ve been so impressed by the consistency in their size, build and demeanor,” Jazlyn said. “They are equal parts smart and sweet and possess the athletic ability to excel at multiple events just like Vinnie did. He puts his stamp on them every time.”

Bred and raised by AQHA 15-year breeder Robyn Fox, an accomplished roper herself, Lenas Frosted Jag exemplifies all the qualities that breeders look for in a stallion.

This 5-year-old stallion stands at a solid 15 hands with great bone, excellent conformation and outstanding temperament and trainability.

Jag started his career in the reined cow horse pen and is an NRCHA money earner. Midway through his 4-year-old year, he was then sent to the capable hands of Clay Burnham for rope horse training. His “old soul” demeanor has allowed him to come to the show pen with minimum training time in the roping pen in both ends of team roping. He has excelled in AQHA roping classes, including bringing home the 2023 AQHA High Point Rope Horse Award at the historic Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo.

Although his demeanor is laid back, Jag offers plenty of speed when needed, but still manages to make his job look effortless. Jag is not the product of a program that promotes color over more important qualities, but his color genetics do offer multiple opportunities for those that like to add a little color to the mix. All his foals will have black points, and he offers the opportunity of a crème gene, a dun gene, and a grey gene for chances of lots of fun color options on top of his beautiful conformation.

Foals by Lenas Frosted Jag would be an excellent choice for a variety of mares from both the cow horse lines and the mares that have some run to them. His pedigree is old school, which allows you to bring nearly any bloodline to him for any discipline desired.

Probably A Shiner might just be the winningest junior stallion on the rope horse market today, as the 2022 American Quarter Horse Association World Champion Junior Head Horse and Junior Heel Horse.

Raised by Rolling V Performance Horses in Rock Valley by the program’s AQHA World Champion Senior Heel Horse Smart Nu Shiner (now standing in Brazil), Probably A Shiner has been in the capable hands of Tyson Benson and J.D. Yates from the start.

“He’s been so easy to show,” said owner Mike Van Egdom, of Rock Valley, Iowa. “I owned his mother and his father, and he’s had a nice temperament from the day he hit the ground.”

Probably A Shiner topped the tough 6-and-Under Royal Crown Futurity in Rock Springs as a 5-year-old in August 2022, worth $9,750 to Rolling V and another $1,935 to Van Egdom who paid his sire in, and another $1,935 to him as the breeder, too.

He capped off the year earning $11,280 for winning the AQHA World Show in the junior heading and another $15,904 for winning the junior heeling, all under Yates.

The 15.1-hand stallion has also excelled in the calf roping, rounding off a career that Van Egdom is well-satisfied with. The stallion will occupy the breeding barn for good in 2024.

Beginning to prove himself in barrel racing and team roping, Charlie is now starting to expand into breakaway as well. He placed in the All-Ages Royal Crown Breakaway in February 2023, as well as the non-pro heading the same week. Charlie's first foal crop was born in 2023, with good shape, bone and size.

“We bred a select group of phenomenal mares—both running and cow bred—in 2022,” Tharp said. “Everyone who had a 2023 baby out of Charlie loved their babies as much we did. They are all fancy, straight legs, beautiful conformation and have their dad's willing and kind personality.”

Much like his sire, Charlie is being crossed on running-bred mares in hopes of having success in the barrel pen and team roping arena, but he is also being bred to cow-bred mares with the hopes of those offspring also excelling in team roping as well as going into the cow horse and reining. Coming from a strong maternal and paternal line, Charlie is an impressive up-and-coming sire with incredible athletic ability.

The son of $420,903-earner Stevie Rey Von out of the Peptoboonsmal daughter Fun N Fancy Free finished third at the 2022 NRCHA Snaffle Bit Futurity before starting his roping career, having won more than $87,000 since he began competing in July 2023. In the first week of November alone, Pride And Joyy won $56,383 between the American Quarter Horse Association World Show under Brazile and the Ria Buckle under Baker. “Our goals with ‘Kilo’ are expansive,” Solo Select’s Melanie Smith said. “So we’re offering his breedings as ICSI only—we don’t want anything to get in the way of the success this horse deserves to have in the arena at a time when the opportunities are so abundant in the rope horse business. But we take calls every day from people wanting a chance to breed to him, so offering him as ICSI only is the way we can make it possible.”

Double-registered AQHA/APHA, Kilo will be available to ICSI to Select Genes mares, too, including Relentless Remuda mares Golde Rush (by First Down Dash) and Big Time Movie Star (Queen), who is one of the highest-earning rope horse futurity mares of all time. “There’s no way to explain the amount of time and lessons-hard-learned that have gone into building a program like ours that has Kilo as one of our stallions and Glory and Queen as our flagship mares,” Brazile said. “By offering our best stallions and our best mares through Solo Select and Select Genes, we’re practically giving you the cheat code to building great horses that we wish we’d had when we started out. Our goal has always been to drive the horse industry forward, so by offering this combination of mares and stallions, we’re well on our way.”

That’s how 26-time World Champion Trevor Brazile introduced The Darkk Side to the world, and since then he’s amassed $75,495 in earnings in just a few trips to town under the ownership of shareholders of The Darkk Side Syndicate.

“We’ve never ridden anything like The Darkk Side, and his abilities have us in uncharted territory,” Brazile said of the stallion enrolled in both the Riata Buckle and Royal Crown roping incentives. “When we realized how exceptional he really was, we wanted to offer the Western industry a chance to be a part of his process in a brand new way for the rope horse business.”

“The Darkk Side is a complete outcross,” Melanie Smith, owner of Solo Select, said. “This pedigree will add ability, speed and size to nearly every single horse in the industry. He’s 15.1 hands, 1,220 pounds and wears a size 2 shoe—that’s the kind of structure you cannot find anywhere else in the breeding game.”

Oklahoma’s Ty Smith bought This Catt Shines as a yearling, and he immediately put the colt in some of the best hands in the business to set the horse’s career up for success in every direction.

“I sent him off to Austin Johnson to start,” Smith said. “And then he went to Ty Benson’s for the Snaffle Bit, and he showed him at the Futurity. Right after that, Tom Lohse and I started a partnership to go into the roping. We both like him whether he wins or loses. We plan to keep taking him to the AQHA shows and the calf roping futurities, and we’ll see where he goes in the team roping, too.”

At 15 hands, This Catt Shines has the size to rope both ends, something Smith liked about him early on.

“From the time we bought him and put him to work, we knew he was put together and wanted to work like the kind of studs we need in the industry today: bigger boned, with the look, the run and the size,” Smith said. “Studs anymore are so small. We can cross him on mares that aren’t quite big enough and on mares that are big enough.”

This Catt Shines has won the AQHA’s Reserve World Championship in the Level 2 Junior Tie-Down and made the Open Finals in the tie-down there as well. Cody McCartney and Tavis Walters will share the training and competition duties on him in 2024.

“This horse is built uphill: He can run and stop, and he has all the factors,” Smith said. “He has all the attributes that a stud needs. He’s got big enough bone and all the right stuff.”

Four Bonnie Bay joined the St. Clair Performance Horse breeding program 17 years ago as a stallion prospect.

“I called Craig Haythorn and told him I needed a stallion prospect,” says Mike St. Clair. “Without hesitation Craig said, ‘I have one that fits the bill and trust me he will be an athlete.’ Four Bonnie Bay has taken us to the winner’s circle repeatedly. Four Bonnie Bay is an outstanding individual and his offspring get very gentle, but have big motors, lots of try and ability.”

Four Bonnie Bay stands 15.1 and weighs 1250 lbs. With tremendous cow sense, speed, stamina, power and wonderful disposition, he has earned an impressive 555 AQHA points in all-around, barrel racing, heading, heeling, halter, pole bending, tie-down, trail and working cow horse. The Notorious Big has continued his streak as a popular Junior Sire, booking full the two years the 2018 black stallion has stood to the public.

“He’s just the whole package,” owner Jessica Boston said. “People assume he’s a stud because of his looks. Honestly, while he is beautiful, it’s secondary. He’s freakishly good-minded and people are seeing that in his babies now, as well. He’s structurally appealing to a market that’s moving toward more bone and size and, of course, he boasts a pedigree that you just can’t go wrong with.”

He is sired by CD Lights, a million-dollar producer in the NCHA and NRCHA. His dam, DT Sugar Chex Whiz, was the 2019 AQHA/PRCA Horse of the Year, campaigned by Billie Jack Saebens, and has since gone on to top the charts as a rope horse dam with more than $242,000 in produce earnings to date. Saebens seemed an obvious fit to take the reins on The Notorious Big and has since piloted him to nearly $67,000 in earnings. They claimed the 2022 ARHFA 4-Year-Old Open Heeling Reserve World Championship and came back in 2023 to finish third in the Open Heeling of the same event. They also finished in the top 5 of the AQHA World Show in the Junior Heeling.

“Our plan for 2024 is just to get him to as many shows as possible,” Boston explained. “Juggling breeding and showing is tricky for a young stud. We feel like he deserves to compete the whole year his last futurity year. His oldest foals will be two, as well. They’ll go to Tyson Benson first and then some to Billie Jack. It will be cool to see Billie Jack jockey now three generations of such great bloodlines. We’re excited.”

Chic has also been inducted into the AQHA Hall of Fame, NRHA Hall of Fame and the NRCHA Hall of Fame. The 1985 stallion’s legacy, expertly preserved by Trevor and Tiffiny Bond, exemplifies a commitment to allow Chic’s legacy to continue to transcend time.

With more than $14 million in progeny earnings, his lineage boasts winners in every discipline. His offspring are renowned for their versatility and easy-to-ride nature, excelling in roping, reining, cutting, reining cow horse and barrel racing—a testament to the “magic cross” that Chic represents.

“As a versatile stallion himself, it’s easy to see why his offspring have been so successful in so many different disciplines,” Tiffiny said. “Chic has been gone for 11 years, but his legacy is as strong as ever.”

In a recent display of Chic’s lasting influence, Collen All Chics, a son of Chic, secured a victory at the Riata Buckle #9.5, earning $112,060. This success, under the guidance of Cody Marx, is a testament to Chic’s enduring impact in the roping world and all of the Western performance horse industry.

Born on the Tongue River Ranch, TRR Lucky Brazos, “Hip Town,” is a 2016 son of Pepcid. Purchased as a yearling by Tripp Townsend of Sandhill Cattle Co., the young stallion has gone on to win the limited open at the 2019 National Reined Cow Horse Association Snaffle Bit Futurity and has since earned approximately $63,000 in lifetime earnings at reined cow horse events. And in November of 2023, Bruno Paoliello rode Hip Town to fourth place in the #9.5 at the Riata Buckle, adding another $23,705 to the horse’s lifetime earnings (with another son of Pepcid, TRR Pepcids Pick, on the head side).

Townsend knew exactly what he wanted when he purchased Hip Town. “The first horse I bought from Tongue River Ranch was a full brother to TRR Lucky Brazos. His name was TRR Lucky Play Gun and he won two AQHA world championships and my son won the 2020 Youth World’s Greatest on him,” Townsend said. “After that horse, we just kept buying full siblings every year. So now we have four of them, but Hip Town is the only one we kept as a stallion.”

As the first stallion that Sandhill Cattle Co. has stood at stud, the program has taken time to prove the stallion before breeding. Hip Town’s first foal crop is limited and will hit the ground in 2023. All foals will be eligible for the Riata Buckle.

It’s quite the story how Jungle Cat ended up in the hands of Brian and Amy Bush of Lehi, Utah. Amy’s father, Chuck Revill, had long been involved in the cutting industry, and this led to Amy’s dream of owning an own son or daughter of the prolific stallion, High Brow Cat.

In March of 2021 as Brian and Amy were watching sleeping grandchildren in the middle of Disney World, Amy was closely monitoring the Solo Select Sale, focused on one horse only, Jungle Cat. With a touch of a button on her phone, they had the winning bid!

The 2017 stallion was a finished cutting horse, but he had limited showing due to the pandemic. Because of his size, and the growing popularity of the rope horse industry, the Bushes decided to change direction and send him into the roping world.

With the help of their good friend, Rachel Primm, he ended up in the hands of Cade Rice, and magic was made. Jungle Cat has earned over $57,000 in the roping pen alone, and the Bushes are looking forward to seeing him compete with Cade in the cow horse events in 2024.

There’s good reason behind the buzz about Reliance Ranch’s Big Lew.

First, there’s his breeding: Big Lew is by AQHA Hall of Fame sire Corona Cartel, the AQHA’s number two all-time leading sire.

Second, there’s his record as a winner on the track. Big Lew had eight wins including the Grade 1 Los Alamitos Super Derby. He earned $638,878 and retired sound after three years.

“He was an amazing individual, just the picture of a horse that could do it all,” according to Bobby Mote, head of Reliance’s Second Career Program.

Then there’s his progeny. On the racetrack, sons and daughters of Big Lew have earned nearly $1 million from just three crops to reach racing age thus far.

But the buzz behind Big Lew also includes anticipation for his progeny to hit the performance arena, an anticipation based as much upon his demeanor and intelligence as his incredible athletic prowess.

All of Reliance’s trainers rave about the speed with which Big Lew’s foals learn and their retention, all signs pointing to horses that will shine behind the barrier in roping or running down a barrel racing alley.

Standing 15 hands, Big Lew can add brains to perform and speed to augment the cow breeding of many roping programs.

Bucks Hancock Dude’s reputation as a sire and performer is as impressive as the gorgeous dappled buckskin himself. Joining Reliance Ranches in the fall of 2022 from Namgis Quarter Horses, Dude is a key piece of the Reliance’s strategy to grow their performance breeding program by adding a solid cross on their race bred mares.

The 2008 AQHA All Around Performance Stallion was shown in halter, tie down roping and heeling, earning accolades in each discipline, during a four year career. He was the 2007 AQHA Reserve World Champion in Junior Tie Down Roping, winning the NRHFA Futurity the same year.

As a sire, Dude’s progeny continue to accumulate accolades including AQHA World Show appearances across several roping disciplines and in the barrel racing pen. Perhaps the most famous thus far is Namgis D 33, “Chongo,” who helped Emily Beisel earn another Wrangler NFR berth in 2023; the duo has won seven go round at the Finals.

Dude’s foals are known for their athleticism and winning dispositions and have earnings better than $1.4 million and climbing.

With sound minds to go along with electric speed, the progeny of Coronado Cartel are a perfect fit for the ambitious plans of Reliance Ranches. Already a top breeder of racing Quarter Horses, Reliance is heavily invested in its Second Career Program and in bringing the awesome traits of Corona Cartel into the performance horse world.

Like his Hall of Fame sire, the stunning Coronado Cartel stood out in his racing career, collecting $416,178 in 12 starts on the track before moving to the breeding shed. His racing progeny are already in the bank for $6.9 million with 185 race winners.

As his first sons and daughters begin to reach the arena, it’s evident that Coronado Cartel is passing on not only his magnificent athleticism but also an early maturing, sound mind that is needed to stand out in the arena.

“The genetics certainly suggest they will have success,” Bobby Mote, who runs the Second Chance Program, said. “We don’t have that many out there yet.”

Despite limited numbers, Coronado Cartel’s performance progeny have racked up $85,516, a large chunk of that attributed to SR Roman Cartel who shined at the 2023 Pink Buckle Barrel Race.

A STREAK OF FLING

FULTON PERFORMANCE HORSES has become synonymous with the great stallion, A Streak of Fling, but this outfit offers plenty more alongside Streaker, the No.1 living sire of barrel horses, a legend with progeny earnings north of $9.2 million.

Nestled on the Nebraska-South Dakota line, Fulton Performance Horses was created by the late Brian Fulton—an NFR competitor who, like the horses he raised, excelled in multiple disciplines—and his wife Lisa. They had a dream of creating versatile horses with the athleticism and brains to perform in any arena.

Just a quick peek at some of their 2023 success stories proves that Fulton Performance Horses—now run by Lisa and her family: Jake and Laney, Jared and John Lloyd—has reached its goal.

Among Streaker's many standouts in 2023 are Jake Clay's Streakin Sun Dew, who is headed to the NFR this year and has unofficial earnings pushing $1 million, and KN Bam Shake Da Room, WPRA World Champion Jordon Briggs' backup at the NFR, who has also been competing in ARHFA events with Briggs' husband, Justin. There is also Wesley Thorp's French Streakin, the 2023 RFA Heading Derby champ.

"I just love horses like that, that are that versatile," Fulton said. "To me, that's a signature part of Streaker. We use 'diversity' quite proudly."

Such versatility also leads to extra cash for those riding progeny, as Streaker is enrolled in 25 incentives. "That diversity is finally coming out with all this roping," Fulton said. "Now we have ropers coming to us to breed their good mares. And those are the kind you need to breed—the mares you loved to ride."

The Fultons have lived their mantra of diversity through a breeding program with proven producing broodmares as well as a lineup of stallions that also includes A Dash Ta Streak and young standout Flingin Jameson, who blends the best of what cow horse, speed horse and rope horses offer.

Buyers can occasionally find an older prospect at Fultons, but there's always a steady supply of everything from weanlings to 2-year olds. The Fultons continue to produce outstanding prospects, developed with an eye on physical ability and heart capable of succeeding in any event.
At the heart of the 88 Ranch Performance Horse program in Douglas, Wyoming, are stallions like Casino Heist and Roller And A Shaker, whose progeny illustrate the ranch’s unparalleled commitment to versatility—a hallmark trait for horses that can effortlessly transition between heading, heeling, breakaway, barrels, cow horse events and just about any event.

Nurturing a lineage that excels in the arena, 88 Ranch Performance Horses proudly presents their standout sire, Casino Heist. His progeny, like Summer Colada, ridden by Kaden Richard on the head side, and Bugzees Heist In 75, ridden by ProRodeo’s Anna Callaway in the breakaway, are testament to his ability to sire top competitors, adept in rodeo events from team roping to barrels.

“Everybody talks about wanting the big stout horse, the big foot and bone to go rope on. Well, there he is right there,” Garrett Henry remarked on Casino Heist’s desirable traits that echo through his offspring.

New to the arena, Roller And A Shaker’s progeny are stepping up, showcasing the raw potential and trainable minds that mark the next generation of 88 Ranch’s competitive edge. These foals represent the ranch’s longstanding tradition of excellence, now coming into their own in the arena and proving to be adaptable and competitive equine athletes. Roller And A Shaker produces those “feely” type horses that make you feel confident when you back into the box.

Looking to the future, 88 Ranch Performance Horses has a son of Epic Leader out of Brittany Diaz’s NFR mare, Rootie. The up-and-coming stallion is anticipated to excel in both barrels and roping. While not yet a sire, the 3-year-old stallion is the ranch’s rising star. Brimming with potential, he represents 88 Ranch Performance Horses’ forward-thinking vision of creating the next generation of rodeo horses by preparing to infuse the next generation with his genetics.

With each stallion carefully chosen for their exceptional traits, 88 Ranch continues to sculpt a future in which their horses are athletes ready to go into the arena or the pasture as good, using horses on the ranch, and anything in between.

“We’re trying to breed some horses that’ll be competitive in the futurities, open rodeos, ProRodeos, and just out on the ranch,” Garrett said. “A lot of our horses already kind of fit the mold of our vision, but we’re trying to push that maybe even a little further.”

There’s no doubt the horse industry is not for the faint of heart, but Bar T Quarter Horses’ owner Jamey Thompkins wouldn’t trade it, current Texas drought conditions notwithstanding.

“It’s a fearless, endless cycle,” he joked. “We’re having to deal with Mother Nature and what cards she deals you, but we’re not going anywhere.”

Tompkins grew up on a Hereford ranch in Texas and always had a dream of breeding quality cattle and horses.

Life nearly derailed that dream. After nearly two decades on the rodeo trail as a steer wrestler, then time spent in the oil and gas industry, Tompkins dipped his toe back into horses with the intent of breeding a few mares.

Daughter Faith gets credit for bringing the idea of breeding horses back to Tompkins’ life and, armed with knowledge from working around great breeders, he started the Bar T in Haslet.

Today, the Bar T is an AQHA Ranching Heritage Breeder, relying heavily upon the bloodlines of Sugar Bars and Colonel Freckles to create horses capable of helping out with the ranch’s cow-calf and yearling operations and excelling in the roping arena, Thompkins’ new passion.

“We use them all, every day,” Thompkins said of his Bar-T-raised horses.

The Bar T’s broodmare band began with Doc-O’Lena-bred foundation mares brought back from California and today features as many daughters of CJ Sugar as Thompkins can get his hands on.

“I’ve always loved Sugar Bars; that’s why we keep them around,” he said.

With a team of trainers to help out, the Bar T offers about 10 prospects a year, from yearlings to 2- and 3-year-olds—sturdy, working horses that can perform any job offered to them.

“We are planning to branch out more to the horse sales a little more,” Tompkins noted of a shift from previous years in which they offered a production sale.

The Bar T also stands their own stallions, many Royal Crown-nominated: Double Shot of Sugar, Bar T Dry Pine, Bar T Dry Sugar and recently re-acquired T Paddys TNN—a bay son of the Paddys Irish Whiskey stallion TRR Paddys Hickory.

While social media has its downfalls, for Brady and Savannah Pitchford, it provided the catalyst to the creation of The BP Ranch, their passion project for training top quality prospects.

“I’ve always tried to have good, young horses around; get them starting roping and flip them to make a little money,” Brady Pitchford said, a practice designed to feed roping habits.

The Pitchfords went looking for more colts by Catty Rey after having several go through their hands, the first found by Savannah on a Facebook ad. That search eventually led to the opportunity to buy the stallion himself and offer him publicly for the first time.

“We didn’t really see ourselves in the breeding game, but we didn’t want to stop riding his colts,” Pitchford admitted, noting the stallion’s good mind is appreciated in light of the Pitchford’s two small children’s interest in the horses.

Catty Rey is the son of Smooth As A Cat out of a Dual Rey mare with progeny earnings already topping $150,000 in cutting, roping, ranch horse versatility and barrel racing. His son, Heavenly Catt, won the Royal Crown in Rock Springs with Jeremy Buhler this summer and made the Finals at the ARHFA.

“They’re versatile babies, just dynamic in all aspects.”

Billadeau Quarter Horses may have begun three decades ago with an eye strictly on racing bloodlines but, today, the family-owned and -operated business is striving for the “universal” horse: A performance horse that could cross from the team roping, barrel racing or working cow horse arenas.

“My dad, Wade Billadeau, has always had a love for speed, which has drawn him to the race horses, and I love the old foundation cow horse,” Layne Billadeau said. “So why not blend both worlds and see what happens?”

A sheer love of the horse is actually the foundation upon which the Billadeau family has built their program.

“We can come up with what we think might be a magical cross and do all the right things from feeding correctly, placing them in the right hands, paying them into all the incentives, showing up to all the events, but at the end of the day, you have to have a love, respect and admiration for the horse and the sport that we put our life efforts into,” Billadeau added. “My wife, Codi, reminds us every day: We need to do what’s best for the horses.”

Billadeau stands four stallions—two of them junior stallions—all relying heavily on the genetics of Shining Spark, the $4 million National Reined Cow Horse Association sire, for the cow side of their program.

“We really love the Shining Spark horses,” Billadeau said. “They are very trainable. They put substance and a mind on our foals.”

Shiners Suduko, an own son of Shining Spark, is their senior sire, along with Ima Hired Gun, a son of Play Gun. Their junior stallions are the Metallic Cat son Exagereyt and Smart Shinin Spook, whose dam is a daughter of Shining Spark. Each stallion offers the benefit of enrollment into various incentives, with Shiner Suduko’s early crops already finding success in the Royal Crown and Riata Buckle.

Along with the outstanding attributes of their stallions, the Billadeau program relies upon proven broodmares that mostly enjoying first careers in racing, roping or barrels.

The Billadeaus now spend summers in central North Dakota and pack up the entire herd to winter in Arizona and marvel that the effort to mount themselves on good roping and barrel racing horses has evolved into something much more than intended with their stallions now offered to the public for just the second year.

“It was what we’d always done, but more as a hobby for ourselves,” Billadeau said. “It seemed a little selfish. We wanted to share these horses with the industries that we so enjoy.”

Today they are looking forward to participating in the rapidly growing rope horse futurity world with horses they are producing.

Though only 17, Audrey Kremer gets credit for crystalizing the family’s passion for raising and riding good horses into the business known as Cross 4 Performance Horses when she talked her parents, Doug and Lacey, into the purchase of yearling stallion, MrBuddyToYou.

Eight years later, all four Kremer kids continue to contribute to the operation, adding their own unique talents.

“Buddy” is the cornerstone, competing at the Riata Buckle, World Series Team Roping, youth rodeos and every other event the family decides to try, including recent forays into dressage and jumping.

But now, Cross 4 is excited to introduce their new stallion, Famous, and their website, cross4ranch.com.

A son of Dash Ta Fame out of the Peptoboonsmal mare Shegetscash, Famous’ first crop will hit the ground in 2024. Famous has completed a year of reining training and is now home at the ranch learning about roping and barrels. As he ages, it is very likely that he will compete in multiple disciplines.

“He’s so chill, on the verge of lazy,” Audrey noted. “It’s easy to show him things. He’s very smart.”

“He’s got a lot of those things that we love about Buddy: the versatility, athleticism, and personality,” Lacey added. “And that’s awesome.”

Nearly four decades ago, newlyweds Bobby Joe and Renee Jane Cudd launched Cudd Quarter Horses, determined to breed sound, tough working horses for the ranch or the performance arena. Though Renee lost Bobby Joe in 2005, his legacy continues every day through the quality horses raised through their program.

Cudd Quarter Horses’ program is built upon the outstanding genetics of AQHA Supreme Champion Goldseeker Bars, sire of working horses renowned for their versatility and good looks. Each June, these proven bloodlines are offered through their annual production sale.

Among the 2023 highlights for this historic program were the sale of Cudd-bred yearling Black Magic Woman, a daughter of Shining Spark out of Cudd favorite Carrera Cat, for a record amount of $180,000 at the NRCHA Snaffle Bit Futurity Sale. Also purchased through the Cudd sale and program is Hotrod Song, the phenomenal gelding Taylor Munsell has shown to her third National Finals Breakaway Roping.

Cudd Quarter Horses stands two young stallions to the public, One Time Genuine, a son of One Time Pepto, and the Metallic Cat son Metallic Gray.

“Those Metallic Grays are looking super good in the roping pen,” Renee said, noting that both are Riata Buckle enrolled. “We’re excited about the future of all the Riata Buckle colts.”

DT Horses, owned by Dean and Leslie Tuftin, is about much more than just breeding futurity-winning horses. DT Horses’ mission is to instill excellence at every step of the process: from crossing the best bloodlines to create premium prospects, to fostering the growth of young trainers to build exceptional horsemen and horsewomen and people, to educating the average team roper who comes to DT Horses looking for a rope horse or looking for advice. In the end, these three prongs of the DT program are pushing the industry forward like few others have done before.

The Horses
DT Horses is headlined by the $2 million sire Hickory Holly Time (2024 stud fee of $3,000), who won multiple world titles and has earned more than $260,000 in his career. Tuftin crosses Hickory Holly Time on his exceptional mare herd, all ridden and proven in the arena and on the ranch. Tuftin raised the stakes for 2023, with a DT Horses incentive that paid out $50,000 to top-earning DT Horses offspring competing at the Riata Buckle. Douglas Rich, won the the Riata Open on a Hickory Holly Time son, won an additional $16,000, while Dave Williams won $12,000, Dwight Adams won $8,000, and Marissa Boisjoli won $4,000—all for winning on Hickory Holly Time offspring at the Riata.

The People
Currently, seven trainers work at DT Horses, and Tuftin has made their continuing growth and education a major priority at his Scottsdale, Arizona, ranch. Tuftin’s goal isn’t just to help the top prospects get into the top hands. He wants his trainers riding every prospect to the best of that horse’s ability and finding that horse’s highest potential—whether it’s at the Ariat World Series of Team Roping or the NFR, in the barrel racing arena or at the local cow horse competition or at the World’s Greatest Horseman.

What’s more, Clinton Anderson himself is starting some colts for Tuftin and will show some of Tuftin’s horses in the reining and cow horse.

The Education
Tuftin’s doors are always open to horsemen and horsewomen looking for their next mount or just wanting to learn how the DT Horses’ program works.

“An impressionist artist said, ‘Perfection is not in the eye of the beholder. Perfection is in the eye of the creator.’ Anyone can slap paint on a canvas, but a great artist puts perfection in every stroke of the brush. For me, I’ve built [this program] in the same way. A great artist holds themselves accountable for every stroke of the brush. People say they’re a trainer, but a great trainer holds themselves accountable for every move that horse takes, every feel. For me, that’s a big piece of it. My mission statement is to build champion horses with solid training techniques while developing the mind of a horse positively. It’s not just, ‘Let’s go win at the futurities.’ And I want to pass that all on to the horse industry as a whole. So, our doors are open to those who want to learn.”

Dixon Flowers Quarter Horses’ program revolves around crossing their proven mares with top stallions across the industry’s team roping, barrel, cutting, reining, racing and cow horse arenas.

ARHFA World Champion and two-time NFR heeler Billie Jack Saebens manages the program with the Duke and Lindsey Dixon, with mares in their lineup including matriarch and PRCA/AQHA Horse of the Year DT Sugar Chex Whiz, Seven S April Fools, Gunna Be A Legend, DT American Honey and Special High Brow.

“These mares have been competed on by Billie Jack and have their own set of accolades from rodeos, AQHA shows, futurities and Open ropings,” Duke said. “Our end goal is to match up our breeding program with the right owners that will place them with the top horse trainers to continue proving each mare as a producer. We have laid the initial groundwork carefully and have already produced futurity standouts like The Notorious BIG, DT Hickory Blu Steel, The Darkk Side, DF Bet Hesa Legend and DF American Starlight.”

The Muleshoe Ranch is a 33,280-acre working cattle ranch with history dating back to the early 1900s. The sixth-generation operation and 2014 recipient of the prestigious Zoetis AQHA Best Remuda Award is located in Gail, Texas, and is currently managed by John and Kevva Anderson.

The Muleshoe, which has been consecutively registering AQHA horses for more than 70 years, currently runs 60 head of broodmares and 5 stallions, including Riata Buckle stallions Boy Boon and Lena Stylish Doc.

Boon and Lena Stylish Doc.

Riata Buckle stallion Boy Boon (Cee Play X Sugar Boon) was purchased in 2006, making the perfect addition to the Muleshoe’s breeding program. At 15 hands, Boy Boon produces babies that are athletic and quick-footed with great dispositions and good bone. Boy Boon has close to 200 AQHA-registered babies.

Riata Buckle stallion Lena Stylish Doc (Lena Barbie Doc x Playin Stylish) was then purchased in 2019 and used as a heel horse until an injury fated him to the breeding barn, exclusively. At the 2022 National Finals Rodeo, Cody Snow won money heading on Play Sleeping by Lena Stylish Doc. Play Sleeping was the first ARHFA finalist to make a debut under the lights of the Thomas & Mack.

“Muleshoe Ranch wanted to be a part of The Riata Buckle because of Denny Gentry,” John said. “Stallion incentive programs like Riata Buckle will help the horse market. Despite the economy, the horse market is still strong.”

MYERS PERFORMANCE HORSES

St. Onge, South Dakota
FrenchmansGuy.com
myerstrainingstable@gmail.com
605-641-4283

In the 30 years since they first stood South Dakota native Frenchman’s Guy, Bill Myers and his family have added blistering speed to their stallions and mares, plus retained the potent traits of their famous palomino.

On top, the line boasts Sun Frost—that magic combination for roping of Doc’s Jack Frost and Driftwood Ike. On the bottom, Frenchmans Guy’s dam is out of AQHA Hall-of-Famer Caseys Ladylove that was raised by Frances Loiseau, hence the iconic “French” in the name. Incidentally, Kristie Peterson’s four-time world champion barrel horse, Bozo, was also by Sun Frost and out of a Casey’s Ladylove daughter. That kind of notoriety helped Frenchman’s Guy’s stud fee go from $300 in the early 1990s to $6,000.

“He could have been just as famous as a rope horse sire,” said Myers. “Our theme for 2024 is all-around versatility. While this has always been the goal for Myers Performance Horses, it has come to the forefront with the rise of roping futurities and increased reporting. Myers horses have always performed well in all performance arenas, from steer wrestling to steer roping to heading/heeling, calf roping, breakaway roping and of course barrel racing.

“Promoting genetics (both paternal and maternal) is essential for a breeder’s growth in this competitive field,” Myers added. “By presenting pedigrees in the event draws, webcast, announcing and results, it helps the public make their own analysis and what might work with their breeding program. We are excited to be in on the ground floor of this in the roping industry!”

Ima Special Kindaguy, Mr Sassy Frenchman and Lucky Wonder Horse are the next generation for Myers Performance Horses. Through years of riding these genetics, trial and error and lots of sweat equity, Myers Performance Horses feels confident in what these young studs have to offer. Their first progeny are just now hitting the performance arena.

“I think any rodeo event needs a great-moving horse with a great mind,” Myers said. “And conformation is a factor some people leave out when they breed horses, but we try to be really strong in that in our program. We’re pretty strict on bone, substance, straight legs—just overall balance.”

Historically, many rope horses have come from straight cutting- or reining-bred stallions, but with the coming explosion of rope horse futurities using hard-running steers, it pays to include a little racing blood.

“In these horses of ours, you get that speed but don’t lose that good common sense and cow,” Myers said. “They leave the box flat and can fly. Plus, they’re cowy and know how to rate, so they’re real easy to train as rope horses. Mentally, they can handle the pressure.”

In 2023, Colby Lovell won the Royal Crown in Rock Springs, Wyoming, on Yes Im Sassy, a 6-year-old Myers mare trained by Dakota Kirchenschlager by Mr Sassy Frenchman out of Full Irish Whiskey.

“She tries hard, and you can see the emotion when she’s running to the cow through her ears,” Lovell said. “She’s good in the box. She runs right to the cow, finishes good, is strong to the horn, really doesn’t make any mistakes. She’s felt solid.”

Frenchmans Guy and A Smooth Guy are paid up in Riata Buckle and Royal Crown futurities, and the extra bonus is that their progeny historically sell super-high at auction. They’re a good financial investment. The line is one of very few that have stayed popular for three decades—and there’s no magic cross, because Frenchmans Guy produced winners with a great variety of mares. At the end of the day, this line makes heavy-boned, good-minded, fast horses with lots of natural collection, Myers said.

“The Frenchmans Guy genetics provide athletic ability along with trainability, for all levels of riders—professional to amateur, young and old. The heart and soul of the horse industry is the owner/ rider. We want to cater to this group as much as possible. We also love to see the longevity of these horses’ careers! The “line-bred” Jack stallions like Dukes N Divas and Favorable Intentions carry the blood that the program was built upon. Both are paid Riata Buckle sires and their get has had great success recently. There truly is a Pitzer Ranch stallion for any type of mare customers may want to breed. The focus of the ranch is to produce sound, good looking, user-friendly horses that can compete in a variety of areas and win.

You can browse the latest offspring at the two annual sales held at the ranch. The Spring Sale is scheduled for April 27, 2024, and includes several broke horses, high-quality rope horses and yearlings. The Fall Sale, set for Sept. 6-7, 2024, is a production sale with mostly HPI, Riata Buckle & Top Gun eligible weanlings. It also includes broke horses, prospects, stallions and broodmares.

A big draw during the Fall Sale is the annual HP Ranch Horse Invitational, scheduled for Sept. 4, 2024. Now in its 14th year, it’s the highest-paying ranch horse competition in the entire country. It’s open to 4- to 6-year-old horses from HPI paid-up sires, with new eligible sires added each year.

The HPI paid out more than $110,000 last year, testing horses in a five-event format, in and out of the arena. They compete in heading, heeling, cowboy trail, one-man ranch sorting and barrel racing.

Pitzer Ranch horses cover every facet of what you need in a performance or working horse. The vast Nebraska Sandhills serve not only as a breathtaking location for the ranch, but it also provides Pitzer horses a strong foundation in ranch country.

Oklahoma’s Flag Ranch, owned by Larry and Bobbie Rice, raised some of the sport’s winningest futurity horses—including Rhen Richard’s 2022 ARHFA World Champion Chics Magic Corona, Tate Kirchenschlager’s 2022 Royal Crown Champion Meradas First Diver, Trevor Brazile’s 2023 leading 4-year-old Bama Fury, and Colby Lovell’s Riata Buckle #14.5 champ Pepinstep.

The Rices’ Flag Ranch program is based on a deep understanding of the attributes needed to produce horses capable of winning from the racetrack to the arena.

Their horses dominated the roping futurity scene a year ago, and they followed with more successes including a couple of 2023 Royal Crown roping wins and a $51,000 victory in the Riata Buckle’s #14.5 for Pepinstep and World Champion Colby Lovell.

“What really separates their program is the way they find the right cross of size, athletic ability, run and cow,” said Kirchenschlager, who has ridden several Flag Ranch bred horses. “They are just built to be head horses. They are the top tier for producing head horses right now.”

Strategically mixing run and cow, Flag Ranch offers Riata Buckle and Royal Crown prospects with proven genetics.

“Larry is just extremely knowledgeable. He knows his crosses—what goes well with what.”

Flag Ranch’s own stallions, One Time Honor, First Prize Diver and Bobby Starlight, along with stallions they have owned in the past—Vabellez and BR Best Asset—illustrate their variety of proven cow-bred and race-bred mares.

According to QData, Flag Ranch is one of 2023’s top five breeders of rope horses and a top five breeder of all time, having produced earners of $325,128.

Each year, Flag Ranch sells a select group of 2-year-olds through the January Triangle Sale in Oklahoma City, with this year’s sale running Jan. 25-27. Most consignments in this year’s sale are Royal Crown and Riata sBuckle eligible, by stallions like One Time Honor and First Prize Diver.

Nestled in the heart of horse country in Weatherford, Texas, the San Juan Ranch operates with a commitment to breeding elite performances horses: athletes who are excelling not only in cutting, reining and working cow horse events, but also in the budding rope horse futurity world.

San Juan Ranch is a National Reined Cow Horse Association Million Dollar Breeder—a rare milestone that was achieved in just 10 years—and its sister company, UltraCruz, produces a supplement line that keeps their horses in optimal health.

The ranch boasts award winning broodmares and champion stallions, such as CD Diamond and his son SJR Diamond Mist, both NRCHA Open Futurity Champions and Horse of the Year winners whose progeny are eligible for the Royal Crown and Medal Roping incentives.

San Juan’s success stories grew in 2023 with SJR Diamond Bond, who finished third in the Royal Crown Open Heading with Rhen Richard after a stellar 2022 campaign, along with SJR Diamond Billy, SJR Diamond Len and others.

Additionally, they raised mare SJR Diamond Salsa, who was the high seller at the Platinum Medal Rope Horse Sale, proving a desire for top prospects like those San Juan is turning out.

With a proven track record of siring athletes who capture world titles with ease, CSR Dual Glo, the bay stallion with a legacy of championship bloodlines, stands as a cornerstone of the Wier Ranch breeding program. CSR Dual Glo proves to be an investment for mare owners who aim to produce the next generation of champions.

When CSR Dual Glo first graced the Wier Ranch, his potential was unmistakable. The son of Dual Spark and Look At Her Glo, also known as “Betty,” carries the torch passed on by champions.

A stop at Bobby Lewis’ ranch in 2014 reminded Marshall Wier of Dual Glo’s illustrious dam, leading to the acquisition that would shape the future of Wier Ranch.

Now, the circle of life continues at the Wier Ranch as CSR Dual Glo stamps his legacy into the future of team roping with his progeny.

Marshall and Lezlie Wier’s dedication to quality, proven by CSR Dual Glo’s impressive list of accolades, extends an invitation to mare owners to partake in their exceptional breeding program. CSR Dual Glo himself boasts titles such as AQHA Junior Heading World Champion, AQHA High Point Junior Heading Champion, and multiple high-point awards, which speak volumes of his abilities and the caliber of athletes he produces.

Highlighting the breeding program’s success, CSR Dual Glo has sired noteworthy champions who have left their mark in the arena. Bobby Glo Harlan emerged as a stellar product of Dual Glo’s genetics, snatching the 2020 AQHA Junior Heeling World Championship and the 2022 AQHA Reserve World Champion in Senior Heading. WQ Stonestimetoglo followed suit, bagging the 2022 AQHA Junior Heeling L2 championship. These champions echo their sire’s titles, including AQHA Junior Heading World Champion and a suite of AQHA High Point awards.

But the standout progeny, Sevens Star Glo, known fondly as “Hank,” is as a testament to the legacy CSR Dual Glo is crafting. As Hank clinches victories like the American Rope Horse Futurity Association Open Heeling World Champion and AQHA World Show titles, he not only mirrors his sire’s success but also shows a promising future for Wier Ranch’s breeding program.

“It’s cool when we raise one, train one, and have the success we’ve had in the arena with the team that we’ve got helping us,” Marshall said. “From T. Richardson and his sons, Tanner and Hayden, and Tell Good starting these horses and taking them to the ranch for day work before they head to the arena to the photographers and writers who tell the stories of what our horses have done, we’ve got really great people. It’s a big deal to go and get done what those horses have done.
The Wier Ranch’s commitment to excellence extends beyond the impressive titles and large checks. It’s found in the breeding decisions that place an equal emphasis on both sire and dam. It’s this emphasis on the strength of the dam that forms the cornerstone of Wier Ranch’s strategy, blending the traits of exemplary stallions with exceptional mares to produce quality horses.

“Everybody goes on about the stallions, but the mare power is what makes those horses,” Marshall said. “And that’s what we’ve tried to focus on, probably as much as anything, is having good mares.”

The approach at Wier Ranch is holistic, aiming not only to produce champions within the team roping arena, but also to have horses with the same quality and demeanor outside the competitive setting—the types of horses that can go do any event with anyone on their back. The horses that emerge from this program are a testament to the balance between athleticism and temperament—a trait combination sought after by all but achieved by few.

with Bobby Lewis and Dual Glo and then Cade with Sevens Star Glo.”

Under the skillful guidance of Bobby Lewis, CSR Dual Glo made a name for himself, and now, with Cade Rice, Hank is continuing that tradition. These victories on the back of the horses from Wier Ranch are not merely individual accomplishments; they are the fruits of a collective passion—a convergence of lineage, training and a supportive environment that allows these wins to occur.

This year, Hank has continued to impress, displaying the same championship quality that his sire is known for. In 2023, Hank was the AQHA World Champion in Senior Heading and the American Rope Horse Futurity Association Word Champion in heeling—a back-to-back win from 2022. His victories at major events are a testament to the powerful combination of CSR Dual Glo’s genetics and the mare power that Wier Ranch so profoundly respects. Hank’s wins are not just a reflection of his talent but a demonstration of the breeding program’s foresight and the fulfillment of a vision that began years ago—even before CSR Dual Glo first arrived at the ranch.
